characterized by a marked increase in the attendance. Of course this is due very largely to the clearing up of the weather, but no doubt there was a material number of visitors already coming on the trains and would have been here no matter what the condition of the weather might have been.

At each succeeding meeting the attendance seems to materially increase and it is safe to say that tomorrow will bring out one of the record making conference crowds. There were two sessions today and there will be a general Priesthood meeting tonight. Tomorrow there will be two regular sessions of the conference and in the evening a very interesting meeting will be held under the auspices of the Deseret Sunday School Union,

SECOND DAY.

Oct. 5, 10 a. m. The choir and congregation sang the hymn which commences:

Come, come, ye Saints, no toil nor la-But with joy wend your way.

Prayer was offered by Elder Lewis W. The choir sang:

Come, dearest Lord, descend and dwell, By faith and love, in every breast. ELDER ANTHON H. LUND, of the quorum of Twelve, was the first speaker. He was very much interested yesterday in the proceedings of the conference. The words of the Apostles were dictated by the Spirit of the Lord. These conferences are a great benefit to the people. He showed by references to the dealings of God in various dis-pensations that the Lord had commanded the people to meet together in such capacities as this. At such times we renew old acquaintances, receive new thoughts, and are strengthened thereby in our faith. To be Latter-day Saints means to walk uprightly before the Lord. If we do otherwise, the world will point us out as hypocrites. It requires constant self-examination to remain good Lat-ter-day Saints. Let us study the word of God, whether written or given orally through His servants. The Saints are not limited in these days to the written word of God, as given to the ancient prophets, but have with them the liv-ing oracles, through whom the Lord speaks continually. These latter are as important as the former.

Still we should not neglect the writ-ten word of God. We should become familiar with the Bible, Book of Mor-mon, and Doctrine and Covenants. The Lord has always given revelation to his people. We have revelation today. We could not live a day without it. He re-ferred to the teachings of the world to the effect that those who believe in revelation are adding to or taking from the word of God. The speaker said that he believed as firmly as the Apostle John that they who altered the word of God would be accursed; and yet he believed in revelation. The sired to emphasize was that no man could change the language of revelation and give this out as the word of God. Many of our people have a great deal of time. During the winter evenings we ought to devote much of our time to self-improvement. We ought to in-dulge less in amusements, which for study. The young should connect themselves with the Mutual Improvement associations, and regularly prepare themselves to do the work

We are a history-making people, and this history should be written. At an early period the Lord instructed the Prophet to keep records. This matter of keeping records has been to a great extent neglected. In every ward there should be a genealogical record, and also a record of everything not genealog-ical. Then there would be a connected history of every organization in the Church. He was pleased to notice the indications of improvement in this di-rection. There should be two records also in the Stake; a record of the High Councils and a record of the Stake as a whole. When the presidents of Stakes visit the respective wards under their care, they should appoint a record-day, so that they may be well informed con-cerning the history of these wards. In the families, too, there should be records kept, and every family should feel a pride in the correctness of its records, genealogical and other.

He was pleased to know that the Church is in such a good condition. Excommunication from the Church is The people understand the principles of the Gespel better than former ly, and they love the truth more. past two years has given evidence of this. He concluded by asking God's blessings upon the people in their efforts to serve the Lord. ELDER MARRINER W. MERRILL. of the quorum of the Twelve, was the next speaker. He said he knew that this is the work of God. He had re-ceived manifestations from the Lord on the subject. Means are provided by which all the people can learn the principles of the Gospel. We gather in conferences to be reminded of the truth. To have our minds stirred up in relation to things we have read and beard. There is never to be the conference of heard. There is much room for provement among the Saints. T needs to be among us, in our various lo calities, an effort in the direction of re form. Who among the Elders, in view of the light we have received, dare profane the name of Delty?Yet, to some extent, it is done. Is it not possible for us, in our organizations to institute reform in this respect? The same could be done in relation to the use of to-bacco and strong drink. We should take up the lesson given us by President Smith, at the opening session of this conference. When we leave here and return home we should think these matters over, and take steps to make it unnecessary for one of the First Presidency to speak upon the existence of the evils referred to.

We ought, in every respect, to be an example to the world. Some of the youth think it manly to indulge in practices that are foreign to the spirit and principles of the Gospel. There is evidently a degree of neglect on the part of the officers of the branches of the Church, more especially perhaps among those who act in the Lesser Priesthood. Enquiries should be made s to who are not performing their aty. We ought to take to heart the dmonition of President Joseph F, mith. We certainly can do something toward the abelition of practices that lead along the pathway of destruction and death.
It is highly improper for any of the

The second day of the conference is | breathren to abandon their homes and go to other localities, without first consulting their presiding officers. It is not advisable for Latter-day Saints to not advisable for Latter-day Saints to go to and fro, as they may fancy, without seeking counsel from those authorized to give it. All things should be done in order and by direction of proper authority. We should be in harmony with the spirit of the Lord. If we take this course the Lord will make us a power in the land. This is His design. If we are good Latter-day design. If we are good Latter-day Saints, we will appear in our true light in the eyes of honorable people of the earth. We are so regarded by many of them even now. The most desirable results will accrue from our being in harmony with the Priesthood, in the order thereof.

Let us see to it that we shall lend our influence to increase righteousness among the people. There are many things existing among us that could, to a great extent, be abolished, espec-ially in the settlements. Among these are saloons. We are anxious to save our sons from being led astray. If the spirit of God is constantly in our habitations, it will have a mighty effect in that direction.

A great deal of Temple work has been done. An immense amount of it still remains to be attended to. Many have entirely neglected this most important duty. There is no greater responsibility resting upon the Saints than that which relates to the redemption of the dead through the performing of vicar-ious work for the dead. We will, bye and bye, meet those who have gone be-fore us. If we have neglected opportu-nities to redeem them, it will place us in a most embarrassing position. The speaker concluded with an earnest exhortation to the Saints to faithful and true to their sacred obli-

ELDER JOHN W. TAYLOR, of the quorum of Twelve, was the next speaker. He began by reading from the 84th section of the Doctrine and Covenants. The Church, he continued, is guided by revelation. But there is a medium through which this revelation is given, which is the Priesthood Though each person in the Church is entitled to revelation, yet it is only for his own guidance, not for the guidance of the Church. The Lord has always given His will to men through the Priesthood. It is through men holding this authority that the gifts and bless. this authority that the gifts and bles-sings are manifest, notwithstanding the various "Christian" sects deny this fact. In the days of ancient Israel, when the Lord took away the higher Priesthood in Moses, the higher gifts those, namely which pertain to this part of divine authority-were taken away with it.

The time would come when we should go to the great empire of China and every other part of the earth, and convert enough people among them to redeem their dead.

Every soul on the earth is entitled to know that God lives. He bore his testimony to the truth of the great latter-day work, to the mission of the Prophet Joseph, and to the fact that God is guiding the course of this Church was the first speaker. There is a great work, he said, for us to do, not only in preaching the Gospel to the world, but in laboring at home with our young people. He referred to several in-stances in his experience which went to show that there are many of our young people that are dazzled by worldly things. A great many of our young men are sent on missions every year, response to calls from the author ities. These young men are not led away by those things which they see. It is very seldom that a missionary does wrong while away. Why cannot we have the same conditions of things The Mutual Improvement as sociations are endeavoring to do a

The choir and congregation sang "Wo thank Thee, O God, for a Prophet,"

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional-alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." Eugene Forers, Lebanon, Kan.

"I had catarrh in the head and throat. Had a bad cough and raised blood. My husband persuaded me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has done me so much good I advise all to take it. When I began its use I could scarcely walk and had headaches. It has cured and built me up so I ean do all my own housework." Mrs. Hugh Rupolpu, West Liscomb, N. S.

The judgments of the Lord always follow the warnings of His "Unless there be an awa servants. ELDER B. H. ROBERTS was the next speaker. He felt dependent on the Spirit of God for what he might say. In the remarks of those who had spoken many events in the growth of the Church had been brought in review before us. The Church is here forever, until all the purposes of the Lord shall have been accomplished. Here and there the idea exists that our growth during later years has not been so great as it was in the early times. This may be true to some ex-tent. But there is a mistaken idea as to the numerical strength of the Church during the first few years. The number of people in the Church at the death of the Prophet was not nearly so great as it has been thought. The number was about 26,000 or 27,000 people, and now we number over 300,000. He did not believe that this work was moving more slowly now than it did during the early period. Nor did he believe that the servants of the Lord were less inspired now than in the early days. On the contrary he believed we are increasing in number, and power. At this point he read the words of Nephi concerning the days when the Book of Mormon should ap-pear. The prophecy of Nephi has already been fulfilled. The speaker called attention to the fact that, whether the Book of Mormon originated with Joseph Smith evidence of inspiration in the book, with Sidney Rigdon, this fact was But to those who now live in the Church, and who believe in the Book of Mormon should be added those who have died in the faith. So the prophecy has been amply fulfilled. He spoke o those who had not been able to keep the faith. Though they were weak in the faith, they still retained something of the light which they had received. Hence, he thought that not all those

Hence, he thought that not all those who have fallen by the wayside should be left off the list of believers in the words of the Book of Mormon.

There are periods of peace for the Saints. God often restrains the world from opposing His work. But this did not mean that storms would not come. It rather seemed to be an opportune time for prearing to meet these time for preparing to meet these storms; for he believed that such would surely come. He thought that the Priesthood especially should pre-pare themselves for what might come, and remember the admonition to feed

There was a good attendance at the regular monthly priesthood meeting of the Stake in the Assembly Hall last night, the 4th instant.

President Angus M. Cannon and counselors presided The meeting opened opened by the singing, "Come all ye sons of Zion," etc. Prayer was offered by Elder avid L. avis, and the brethren further sang: "O, say what is truth,"

President Cannon presented the names of several young men as having been recommended worthy to be ordained Elders, and the votes in their favor were unanimous, favor were unanimous.

The first speaker was Counselor Joseph E. Taylor. He said it was very proper that the Priesthood represented here tonight should take cognizance of the remarks of President Joseph F. Smith, at the opening of the general Conference, with reference to the violation of the Sabbath day; to the using of tion of the Sabbath day; to the using of the name of Delty in vain; and the hon-oring and sustaining of the holy Priest-hood. President Taylor said: "Possi-bly there is no place in Zion where the Sabbath day is desecrated as it is by the citizens of this city." The Lord has forbidden us to do anything else on the Sabbath day, but to prepare our food with singleness of heart, and then we are commanded to repair to the place of worship and partake of the holy Sacrament. Our children should be restrained from sitting on the street corners at night where the habit of card playing, smoking and profanity s often commenced. President Cannon was the next speakr, and also dwelt to some extent upon the necessity of refraining from using the name of Deitv too freely. The name of the Melchisedic Priesthood has been given it to avoid the too frequent petition of the name of the Son of God. Christ set us the example in teaching he simple form of prayer when He ald: "Our Father, who art in caven; hallowed be Thy name," etc. Reference was made to the keeping of e law of tithing. The man that falls pay his tithing, will sow the seeds unbelief in his children's hearts. The child that is brought up to observe this law will grow up to be more careful in the expenditure of the remaining nine said that the day will come when the man that does not pay his tithing shall not be numbered among His people.

GIRL'S NARROW ESCAPE. While Riding a Wheel She Collides With a Buggy.

There was a lively ripple of excitement in front of McCornick's bank yesterday afternoon about 5.30 o'clock in which T. L. Woodbury and two girls employed at a candy factory were the entral figures.

The young women were on bicycles and Mr. Woodbury drove his rig up to the curbing to talk with a friend. Just as the girls were riding by, a cart drove up which forced one of them to collide with Woodbury's rig. As the young lady fell she thrust one of her feet through the spokes. Just at that mo-ment. Woodbury's horse started forward and the young lady was thrown almost to the top of the buggy. Fortunately, the horse was brought to a standstill before any serious damage was done, and the young lady was rescued without much difficulty.

From the remarks that followed, one would never have supposed that the girl had had any association with a candy factory. The remarks were anything but sweet. After the girls had said about all they could think of on the subject of "fool drivers," they remounted their bikes and pedaled up

BACK TO HIS PROFESSION. Major Richard W. Young Once More in Active Legal Life.

Major Richard W. Young has opened a law office in the Templeton building. The major is well known as the commanding officer of the famous battailon of artillery that went out from this State to the Philippines in the spring of 1898. Upon the expiration of the term of service of the Utah artillery, Major Young was designated by General Otis as a member of the Supreme Court of Justice of the Philippine Islands; he was subsequently advanced to the presidency of one of the two branches of that court. This position he resigned in May last in order to resume his residence in this city, his birth place.

Major Young's connection with the law dates back to his graduation at Columbia and admission to the bar of New York State in 1884. He resigned from the regular army in 1283 and has since been a well-known member of the local bar. The present edition of the revised statutes was prepared by a commission of which Major Young was chairman. From a previous article in this journal the wrong impression appears to have grown that the major would de-vote his time exclusively to the teach-ing of law in the Latter-day Saints University. He explains that his connection with that institution will be limited to a series of lectures on advanced commercial law and will in no rise interfere with the practice of his

On the Republican ticket there is every probability that the name of Mayor Thompson or that of President Buckle, of the council, will be placed in the mayorally nomination. Charles Crane and J. S. Hon. F. B. Stephens, present city attorney, will be a candidate for re-elec-tion if the majority of Democrats have their way; and inasmuch as Mr. Ste-phens is presumed to be agreeable to such an arrangement it is more than likely that his name will be found upon the ticket on election day.

R. P. Morris, O. F. Whitney and Frank Shirer seem to be the knights who will enter the Democratic lists for nomination to the city treasurership. Selden I. Clawson will go to the Republican convention with the object in view of getting a similar nomination upon his party's ticket.

Justice Nielsen has a lot of Demo-cratic friends who would like to see him on the bench of the city judge.
